Description

The Department of Social Welfare at National Chung Cheng University in the Republic of China (Taiwan) invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the assistant, associate or full professor level, starting on February 1st, 2023.

National Chung Cheng University is a world class research-intensive university. We deliver teaching and learning of the highest quality. Our faculty is dedicated to the promotion of social welfare research in policy and practice in Taiwan. Attracting and retaining high-caliber scholars is fundamental to our continued success.

National Chung-Cheng University was founded in 1989, and the master's program in social welfare was among the first five graduate programs at the University. The Department of Social Welfare was soon established in 1992 to provide programs at the undergraduate, master's and the doctoral levels. Since its inception, the Department has focused on an interdisciplinary approach to research and teaching on social welfare related fields. The faculty comes from diverse academic backgrounds including sociology, economics, political science, public finances, and social welfare/social work.
